In voidered handkerchief. Visiting Toilets. Redingote, a coineral gray poplin, India Cashmere shawls, pink eluss d'Afrique hat, with pink plume, marabout tipped with white and rich voillette of Alencon labe.—Seening Dress.—Yellow crape, with two skirts, crimioned with small flowers, a la Pompadour; coiffure voss, and other small flowers in wreaths, a la Cardonville labrielle Famela Grisi Rachel; leaves of all coffures reen, as that color harmonizes with all complexions, and gives a classic, becoming appearance to the headardton dresses, embroidered, are more worn than ever, when there are any elegantic at balls, operas, or soirées. The lightness of this texture cannot be replaced. At the deabit of Malle. Brambille, at the Italian opera, most of the young ladies were dressed in blue pink and white Tariton dresses, embroidered with broad tucks or hems. This simplicity was more admired than the flounces of last season. Gloves one-fourth long; fans with marabout. A greater profusion of inside flowers, with hats, were never seen; the Pamela and Clarism shapes being large, inside flowers must be worn. Gentlemen's coats will be worn longer than those for the street. The small clothes of our grandfathers will be worn in those salons where etiquette is rigorously observed. White vosts, with rolling collars of satin, Marseilles, &c., will be most worn.

MORE FORTS —We learn, says the Detroit Advertiser, that an officer has been despatched to make a survey of the government reservation, at the head of St. Clair river; and to fix upon a suitable site for a new fortification there, in place of the old stockade known a Fort Gratiot, and to make the necessary estimates.—S. Louis Reweille, Dic. 14.

There was a free passage across the Mississippi river, on the 13th, on the ice.

i; Canton, i; U. S. Bank, i.

The banks are steadily contracting, on account of the probable passage of the sub treasury, as they represent; but the true cause of the great contraction is the expectation of making political capital out of the embarrassments they create in commercial circles. Their best and largest customers are refused discounts; and consequence of the agitation of the sub treasury, and the probable passage of that act during this session of Congress, they are compelled to move very cautiously, and not discount a single dollar more than they are actually compelled to The embarrassments many experience by this contraction induces them to look into the subject, and as they feel for the moment the effect the banks wish them to, for the purpose of prejudicing the public against the measure, and for the purpose of showing to those interested the probable effect of the act in the event of its becoming a law. The restrictions placed upon the money markets by the banks of this city, within the past two or three veeks, have been greater than would have been expe. rienced, were things allowed to take a natural course, had the Sub-Tr asury been actually enforced; and if these institutions imagine that they can prevent the passage of that bill by contracting the money marcets and creating embarrassments among the commercial classes, they will be most wofully mistaken. The fact alone, that these banks have the power to expand and contract the markets so suddenly, at will, and that they so frequently make use of that power, to the great injury of all classes, is sufficient to induce the government to perfect and at once adopt some act checking the movenents of these money monsters, for the protection of the ublic generally from the grasping operations of a few hartered monopolists in Well street. We feel every lay mere and more, the want of the most restrictive Subfreasury law. The course pursued by the banks of this ity, in particular, calls for an immediate movement in me will be lost in putting it into operation. It is full into the fluctuating movements of these banking instituthe will to put an effectual veto upon the immense ex-pansions and contractions in the volume and value of being an increase of twelve and a helf per cent. The total number of bales of cotton transported the last year was 114,641 bales, and for the year previous, 77,437, being an increase of 37,204 bales, or about fifty per cent. The net earnings of the road, during the past year, were as annexed.

Total net earnings, 1845..... $181,564 36 It appears by this that the expenses of the road, such as maintenance of way, of machinery and motive power. of cars and transportation expenses, amounted to more than fifty per cent of the aggregate earnings; this is a very large per cent.

The receipts this year have not been so large as antici-nated—estimates having been made placing the amount t $400,000—in consequence of the reduced crop of otton in the section where the railroad terminates, and as absence of the usual religious, political and military scettings, which were so frequently held in the previ-

us year. Unsuccessful efforts have been made by the company s borrow money to pay the debts, so that the profits o se concern may go, to a prudent extent, to the stock-solders, in the way of dividends, reserving annually a sum sufficient to meet the interest on the sum borrowed, and to establish a sinking fund to pay off ultimately the principal. Bonds with coupons attached, drawing interest at 7 per cent, payable semi annually in New York or Savannah, have been prepared, and will be sold as want ed, at par. Should this attempt to defer the payment of the debts, so as the stockholders can receive dividends on their stock fail, the company can pay off its debt in three years, during which time there can be no divi-

There appears to be a very general disposition among railros! companies, out of New England, to increase their debt,instead of increasing their capital stock, thereby endangering the possession of the road by the stock holders, and depriving them of the smallest dividend ntil the full interest upon their debts is paid. The best managed railroad companies in Massachusetts increase their capital stock from time to time, to liquidate any debt, by which they place the liabilities of the company claims. A railroad company cannot make a profitable transfer of debt to stock, unless their stock is at least worth par, and this may account in a great degree for this way of raising money.

The total amount of liabilities of the Central Railroad Company, on the 1st of December, was $669,334 63. On the 7th of April last, the liabilities amounted to $696,-948, showing a reduction of $27,614, instead of $46,948. anticipated. At this rate, the debt will not be liquidated rapidly as expected. The liabilities of the Company on the let inst. were as annexed:—

DEST OF THE CENTRAL RAILROAD AND BANKING COMPA-13 311 00

After allowing for all bad debts, and depreciation of real estate and banking houses, it is estimated that the assets of the company will yield at least $200,000.

It is intended, as the debts are paid, to issue stock by way of dividends for all such net profits of the road as are taken to pay debts, until the capital stock now on the books, at $2,048,715, shall amount to $2,600,000, a sum below the cest and clearly within the real value of the road and its equipments. LATEST INTELLIGENCE BY THE MAILS. LEASTERN MAIL.-The Long Island train had no arrived, up to the time of going to press. WASHINGTON. Dec. 21, 1845

nia coming into Town. Mr. Calhoun and family arrived last evening, and are comfortably established at their old quarters, at the United States hotel. He looks fresh, hale and vigorous as ever.

E. G. Saulnier, bearer of despatches from Mr Slidell, our minister at Mexico, arrived also, last evening, and reported himself forthwith to the Executive. He came from Vera Cruz to Havana, in an English steamer of 1800 tons, (the Spitfire we understand,) thence in a little hop-skip-and-jump

English steamer of 1800 tons, (the Spitfire we understand,) thence in a little hop-skip-and-jump schooner, of forty-two tons burthen, to Charleston; thence per Cave Johnson's overland mail line to Washington—twelve days passage through.

From what we learn, North California can be had for $15,000,000, the raw material of which, as it now stands, is valued at $75,000,000. Mexico assents to the Rio Grande, with a bonus of several millions more, including Voss's unpaid indemnities.

California is, therefore, coming in with "drums beating and colors flying." Our associate, whose province it is, will, we expect, advise you at length upon this important news.

The news from England by this morning's Herald, still turther softens down the war panic excited by the late discussion in the Senate.

Capt. G. W. Taylor gave another illustration of the wonders of his diving bell, cut-water, and submarine apparatus, in the harbor at the Navy Yard, yesterday. Sundry officials and a host of unofficials in attendance. The trial of M'Nulty cut off our visit, and of necessity a more particular description. Some one of our colleagues, however, may advise you more fully.

Look out for a message or two from the President, in writing, in the Senate, to-morrow.

Rapid as the current of events—great as are the issues daily developing, we shall be able to keep up, if the Hon. Cave Johnson will only second the motion, and put on more steam.

The weather is as cold as Moscow. The river is freezing up hard, and cloaks and hot punches are all the go. You may inform the Yankees that we shall manufacture our own ice this season.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21, 1845.

By the special messenger, Mr. E. H. Saulnier, (to whom we are indebted for these particulars in person,) just arrived from Vera Cruz, via Havana, we learn that Mr. John Slidell arrived at Vera Cruz on the 29th ultimo, having met with a very cordial reception from the authorities. There he took his seat in the stage on the evening of the 1st instant, for the City of Mexico, attended by a military escort. A few days before our informant left, news had reached Vera Cruz, that General Urrea, Governor of the province of Sonora, had pronounced vernor of the province of Sonora, had pronounced against the authorities of the Mexican Government, declaring the province independent.

On the 1st instant, a private express arrived in Vera Cruz, stating that General Parades had pronounced against the present Government, and was about to march on the City of Mexico from San Louis Potesi.

about to march on the City of Mexico from San Louis Potosi.

Nothing definite as to the proposition for the purchase of California; but thinks that this acquisition is embraced in the mission of Nr. Slidell.

The barque Anne Louisa, Capt. Wilson, was to leave Vera Cruz for New York on the 9th.

We tender our thanks to Mr. Saulnier for this important information. He is quite a young man, and has exhibited no small degree of enterprise in effecting his passage from Vera Cruz, ander the circumstances, in the short space of 13 days.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21, 1845. The Annexation of Mexico-A Graphic Description of Coming Events.

Briefly, in a letter per mail of this afternoon, we advised you of the arrival of a messenger from Vera Cruz, with despatches from Mr. Slidell, special Minister at Mexico. One point we, perhaps, forgot to mention—that Gen. Paredes, originally commis-sioned and despatched at the head of the army destined for the invasion of Texas, had wheeled about, and at the head of his 6,000 ragamuffins, declared war against the supreme government of Herrera. Any man of the commonest perception, can see at once where these endless dissensions of that miserable burlesque of a republic, "La Republica once where these endless dissensions of that miserable burlesque of a republic, "La Republica Mexicana," are to stop. They will stop with the annexation of Mexico to the United States—silver mines, gold mines, cathedrals, sugar and coffee plantations, corn-fields, orange gardens, castles, palaces, vineyards, plains, vallies, rivers and mountains, lakes, bays, harbors, salt-ponds, volcanoes, palm-trees, Indians, mestizoes, Spaniards, quarteroons, darkies, banditti, priests, monks and friara, aristocrats, gentlemen, lazzaroni, and all. That's where it will stop It won't stop anywhere else, it's bound to come. All h— (beg pardon,) all "human natur" can't stop the rapidly approaching grand climateric of the annexation of Mexico—a country abundantly competent to the sustentation of one hundred and fifty millions of people. Great God I what a consummation to think of—to try for—to realize! And we shall realize it. A compromise upon the 49th parallel for Oregon will give us Mexico, with the shedding of nothing but ink upon a tanned sheep-skin. Only to think of it! A country—a government—stretching its sublime pinions from the St. Lawrence to the straits of Panama—from the frozen regions to the torrid zone—from the roar of the Atlantic, in midnight darkness, to the illimitable expanse of the Pacific, heaving and glittering in the glories of the setting sun! Gods and goddesses of High Olympus, what a destiny is ours! Only to think of it! The representatives of fifty States congregated in the national capitol—and all the varieties of beauty upon the fase of the earth assembled in the Federal city during the winter's season.

Where is the human intellect—where is that san-captol—and all the varieties of beauty upon the tase of the earth assembled in the Federal city during the winter's season.

Where is the human intellect—where is that sanguine devotee of republican liberty, however high his aspirations for his country—however expansive his presentiments of its ultimate standing that he can reach, in the utmost tension of his imagination, the boundaries of the glory, the power, the grandeur, the sublimity, the unparalleled maximum of renown to which this North American Union has commenced her onward march? He can't begin to do it. All that we can do is to "look out when the bell rings," and move onward with the locomotive of the age. Steam! why, sir, it is infused into the very spirit of the times. It is the realization of more than a poet's dream—this onward progress of the model Kepublic. There are men living, sir, and mark the prediction in the Herald—there are men living, who will breakfast in Washington and sup in the national palace of Mexico. The President, after a light supper of corn bread, a smoked herring, and green tea, with a clear conscience and a lively latih in continued peace, is doubtless dreaming at this very moment of supping in the halls of the Montezumas.

We deduce these foregone conclusions from what we hear from Mexico of the protracted misery of that miserable people, from continued and neverending intestine broils, taxations, conscriptions, and grinding impositions of all sorts—from their desire for peace, and a safe and steady government.

The work of annexation is just beginning. We the evening.

and grinding impositions of all sorts—from their desire for peace, and a safe and steady government.

The work of annexation is just beginning. We cannot stop short of the neck of Darien. We must go on. We cannot resist the momentum by which we are propelled. It will have to be done. It's bound to be done. Fifty States represented an this capitol! Only think of that. Why, sir, the present dimensions of our national flag will be covered all over with stars, and we shall have to enlarge it to make room for the stripes. Great and apotheoseised Diana! what is the world coming to! Hurrah for Polk—hurrah for Texas and Oregon—hurrah for Calitornia—and three times three for Mexico and the New Jerusalem! We are enveloped in a blaze of glory. Already do we anticipate the stupendously magnificent consummation before us. Come on! come en! ye down-trodden and oppressed of Ireland, of Britain, and of Europe—come on. We shall have room for you! The mantle of our government will cover you all. To every honest neart, panting for liberty and a fair field, we say, in behalt of our country, the truit of imported seeds, come on! Elbow-room, ye tatterdenations of Mexico! we are coming to take care of you. Ere ten years shall have clapsed, the North American eagle will scream in his triumphant flight, when the first rays of the morning shall illuminate the anowy pinnacle of the majestic Orizimbo! That's all Respectfully,

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 22, 1845 Sens of New England-Bar Dinner-Bill Wood Surven-dered.

The Society of the Sons of New England celebrate the anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims to-day, by an oration and other public exercises at the Unitarian church, and this evening, by a supper at Hartwell's

Washington House.

The members of the Philadeldhia bar have not given over their contemplated "bar dinner." On the contrary, papers are out, and the subscriptions are rapidly filling up. It will be one of the most elegant affairs ever got up in this city—the arrangements are in the hands of the cities of our lawyers—if the spirit of cliquiem which has already shown its head, does not interfere.
